THE FINANCIAL STATE OF BOSTON

A new analysis of the audited financial reports found Boston has a Taxpayer Burden™ of $10,200, earning it a “D” grade from Truth in Accounting. Boston is one of 32 cities to receive a “D” grade for its financial condition.

Boston’s elected officials have made repeated financial decisions that have left the city with a debt burden of $2.8 billion. That burden equates to $10,200 for every city taxpayer. Boston’s financial problems stem mostly from unfunded retirement obligations that have accumulated over the years. Of the $6.8 billion in retirement benefits promised, the city has not funded $1.4 billion in pension and $2.5 billion in retiree health care benefits.

Boston and other cities have become more transparent over the last few years, thanks to the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) set by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB), which now require governments to disclose pension (GASB 68) and other post-employment (GASB 75) benefits on their balance sheets.

THE TRUTH:

BOSTON FINANCIAL BREAKDOWN

FAST FACTS

- Boston has $2.4 billion available to pay $5.1 billion worth of bills.
- The outcome is a $2.8 billion shortfall, which breaks down to a burden of $10,200 per taxpayer.
- If retirement benefits or other costs are not reduced, then taxpayers could have to pay $10,200 in future taxes without receiving any related services or benefits.
